

➤ Australia & New Zealand Education Guide 2025

Studying in Australia and New Zealand

Australia and New Zealand are top global study destinations, offering world-class education, vibrant student life, and a high standard of living. Students will benefit from renowned universities, innovative teaching, and a high quality of life.

Australia offers a dynamic study experience, with major cities like Sydney, Melbourne, and Brisbane home to world-ranked universities. Smaller campuses in regional areas also provide a more personalised setting. In contrast, New Zealand delivers a close-knit academic environment, where smaller class sizes and collaborative learning are central to the student experience. Graduates enjoy excellent post-study work options through Australia's Temporary Graduate Visa and New Zealand's Post-Study Work Visa.

No matter your destination, studying in Australia or New Zealand offers a supportive, high-quality education that prepares you for the future, both personally and professionally.

Australia

Australia is a leading study destination for Indian students, known for its world-class education, research opportunities, and strong graduate employability. With universities that consistently rank among the best in the world and a high standard of living, Australia attracts ambitious students seeking an education that will pave the way for long-term success.

- Capital: Canberra
- Popular Student Cities: Sydney, Melbourne, Brisbane
- Currency: Australian Dollar (AUD)
- Main Intakes: February, July
- Number of Universities: 40+
- How To Apply: Direct to universities
- Flight Time from India: 11 – 14 hours

Why Choose Australia?

1 Top-Ranked Universities

Australia is home to prestigious institutions such as the University of Melbourne, Australian National University, and the University of Sydney, offering globally recognised degrees and research opportunities.

2 Diverse Study Options

With a broad selection of courses ranging from undergraduate to postgraduate and vocational training, Australia provides flexible study paths to suit diverse academic and professional goals.

3 Excellent Quality of Life

Australia offers a safe, multicultural environment, with students benefitting from a high standard of living and strong community support.

4 Industry Connections and Internships

Australian universities partner with leading multinational companies, giving students access to internships and work placements that provide hands-on experience and improve employability after graduation.

Australian Education System

Australia's education system is globally recognised for its high standards and wide range of study options in high-demand fields. With internationally accredited degrees and a strong focus on employability, students graduate with skills and qualifications that are valued worldwide.

Types of Institutions

Australian higher education includes three main types: Group of Eight (Go8) universities, known for research and academic excellence; public universities, offering a broad range of government-funded programmes; and vocational institutions (VET), focused on practical, industry-specific training for the workforce.

Australian Qualifications Framework (AQF)

Australian universities follow the AQF, a national credit system that regulates courses delivered by Australian education and training providers. It covers all education levels, from vocational training to university degrees, helping students' credentials gain recognition worldwide.

Work-Integrated Learning and Internships

Many universities offer internships and industry placements as part of their degree programmes. These opportunities help students apply theoretical knowledge in real-world settings and enhance their employability.

Working While Studying

In Australia, students can work up to 48 hours per fortnight (24 hours per week) during term time and unlimited hours during holidays. Many international students find part-time jobs in retail, hospitality, administration, or paid internships, gaining valuable work experience while managing living costs.

Types of Programmes

Study options in Australia include undergraduate, postgraduate, and vocational (TAFE) courses.

- Undergraduate Programmes: Typically three to four years, depending on the course. Some programmes offer honours options, extending studies by an additional year.
- Postgraduate Programmes: Master's degrees usually take one to two years, while doctoral programmes (PhDs) often last three to four years with a focus on independent research.
- Vocational Education (TAFE): Provides industry-relevant training through diplomas, certificates, and advanced diplomas, with an emphasis on practical skills.

Intakes and Deadlines

Australia's primary intake is in February (Autumn), offering the widest range of course options. A secondary intake is available in July (Winter). Application deadlines can vary by university, typically closing three to six months ahead of each intake.

Scholarships and Financial Aid

International students can access financial support for tuition, health insurance, and living expenses. Scholarships are often awarded based on academic performance, financial need, or specific fields of study, making studying in Australia more affordable.

Cost of Studying in Australia

| Cost                                  | Undergraduate Degree                             | Postgraduate Degree |

New Zealand

New Zealand is a great choice for international students, offering a world-class education system and strong industry connections that help secure job opportunities after graduation. With a focus on practical learning and research, along with a safe, welcoming environment and stunning natural beauty, it's an ideal place to study and build a career.

- Capital: Wellington
- Popular Student Cities: Auckland, Wellington, Christchurch
- Currency: New Zealand Dollar (NZD)
- Main Intake: February, July
- Number of Universities: 8
- How To Apply: Direct to universities
- Flight Time from India: 16–20 hours

Why Choose New Zealand?

1 Globally Recognised Degrees

Universities in New Zealand offer internationally respected qualifications that emphasise hands-on, real-world learning, ensuring graduates are well-prepared for their careers.

2 Affordable Tuition and Living Costs

New Zealand offers lower tuition fees and living expenses compared to other study destinations, making it an accessible option for international students.

3 Safe and Student-Friendly

Known for its welcoming and secure environment, New Zealand provides a strong support system for international students, helping them feel at home throughout their studies.

4 Work Rights and Career Pathways

Students can benefit from flexible work options during their studies, and after graduation, they can stay and work in New Zealand for up to three years with a Post-Study Work Visa.

New Zealand Education System

New Zealand's education system offers internationally recognised qualifications with a strong focus on research, innovation, and employability. With a variety of academic and vocational programmes, students gain practical skills and hands-on experience that help them stand out in the job market.

New Zealand Qualifications Framework (NZQF)

The NZQF, maintained by the New Zealand Qualifications Authority (NZQA), ensures that all tertiary qualifications meet high global standards. It helps students earn internationally recognised credentials and clear pathways for academic progression and career advancement.

Types of Institutions

New Zealand has state-funded universities offering a wide range of academic and research-focused undergraduate and postgraduate programmes, alongside Institutes of Technology and Polytechnics (ITPs) that specialise in vocational and industrial training.

Intakes and Deadlines

The main academic intake is in February, followed by a secondary intake in July with limited course options. For both intakes, application deadlines generally close three to six months before the start date.

Scholarships and Financial Support

New Zealand offers various scholarships for international students from eligible countries, including government-funded awards and merit-based options from universities. These scholarships can help cover tuition fees, living expenses, and even travel costs, making studying in New Zealand more affordable and accessible.

Working While Studying

International students with a valid student visa can work up to 20 hours per week during academic terms and full-time during scheduled breaks, offering the opportunity to gain work experience and earn extra income.

Cost of Studying in New Zealand

| Cost                               | Undergraduate Degree                              | Postgraduate Degree |

| Minimum budget for the full course | 111 lakhs (three years)148 lakhs (four years) | 54 lakhs            |

Australia and New Zealand Visa Requirements

Australia and New Zealand offer different visa options for students and their dependents, each with specific eligibility criteria, application steps, and work rights that extend both during studies and after graduation.

Australia

International students planning to study in Australia must apply for a Student Visa (subclass 500).

Application Process

- Receive and accept the Letter of Offer from your chosen university
- Obtain a Confirmation of Enrolment after paying the deposit to your education provider
- Provide proof of English proficiency from an approved test, such as IELTS and PTE
- Complete the Genuine Student requirement with details about your study plans
- Provide evidence of sufficient funds to cover tuition, living expenses, and travel
- Obtain Overseas Student Health Cover
- Meet the health and character requirements, including any necessary health checks or police checks (if needed)
- Submit the visa application online through ImmiAccount and await a decision from the Department of Home Affairs

Visa Extensions

To continue studying in Australia, students must apply for a new Student visa (subclass 500) before their current visa expires. This requires a new Confirmation of Enrolment (CoE) from the education provider and evidence that financial, health, and character requirements are still met.

If a visa expires close to graduation, students may apply for a Visitor Visa (subclass 600) to attend the ceremony, but this visa does not permit further study.

Post-Study Work Opportunities & Permanent Residency Pathway

International graduates may be eligible for the Temporary Graduate Visa (subclass 485), allowing them to stay and work in Australia for 2–4 years, depending on their qualification level and location of study.

Graduates in high-demand occupations may later transition to permanent residency through skilled migration visas such as the Skilled Independent (189), Skilled Nominated (190), or Skilled Work Regional (491) visas.

Dependent Visas

Eligible family members — such as a spouse or unmarried children under 18 — can be included in a student's visa application. They may also apply later as subsequent entrants, provided they meet all standard health and character requirements.

New Zealand

International students must apply for the appropriate visa to study in New Zealand. A Student Visa is required for full-time courses longer than three months, while a Visitor Visa is suitable for short courses of up to three months. The Pathway Student Visa allows students to study up to three consecutive, pre-approved programmes for a maximum of five years.

Application Process

- Obtain an offer of a place from an approved education provider
- Show evidence of payment for your tuition fees
- Provide proof of funds to support your stay and cover tuition
- Gather required documents, such as a copy of the identity pages in your passport, medical certificates, police certificates, and translations for any documents not in English
- Provide proof of approved medical and travel insurance for the duration of your stay
- Submit your application online through Immigration New Zealand's website or by using a printed form

Visa Extensions

Student visas in New Zealand are usually granted for the duration of the course. If a visa expires before completing studies, students must apply for a new visa, providing evidence of ongoing enrolment, academic progress, and sufficient attendance.

The Pathway Student Visa enables up to five years of continuous study across up to three consecutive courses under one visa, as long as all conditions are met.

Post-Study Work Opportunities & Permanent Residency Pathway

Graduates may be eligible for a Post-Study Work Visa, allowing them to work in New Zealand for up to three years, depending on the level and relevance of their qualification. There are also clear pathways to permanent residency through:

- The Skilled Migrant Resident Visa
- The Green List pathways (Straight to Residence or Work to Residence)
- Sector-specific agreements, such as the Care Workforce or Transport Sector Agreement, are for roles in demand.

Dependent Visas

New Zealand allows eligible family members of student visa holders to join them:

- Child of a Student Visa: Dependent children aged 19 or under may join a parent studying at a qualifying level.
- Guardian of a Student Visa: A parent or legal guardian of a student aged 17 or under can apply to live in New Zealand to provide care.
- Partner of a Student Visa: Partners can apply for a visa to stay for the same duration. If the student is studying a high-level or Green List qualification, the partner may be eligible to work. Otherwise, they can visit and study for up to 3 months.
