Dubai Student Visa Requirements

Dubai offers a range of visa options for international students pursuing higher education in the UAE. Student visas are typically sponsored by universities and provide access to study, work placements, and post-study pathways, with specific criteria that must be met for issuance and renewal.

Application Process

International students planning to study in Dubai must obtain a Student Residence Visa, usually sponsored by their chosen UAE university.

- Receive an official admission letter from a licensed UAE university or college
- Pay the tuition deposit as required by the institution
- Submit a completed visa application to your university, which will typically handle the visa process with UAE immigration
- Provide a copy of a valid passport (minimum six months' validity) and submit passport-size photographs as per UAE specifications
- Show proof of financial ability to cover tuition and living expenses
- Provide health insurance coverage valid in the UAE

Once all documents are submitted and approved, the student will receive an entry permit, followed by the Student Residence Visa stamped into the passport after arriving in Dubai.

Visa Extensions

Student Residence Visas in Dubai are usually valid for one year and must be renewed annually for the duration of study. To renew, students must provide a current certificate of enrolment, a valid passport, proof of continued academic progress and valid UAE health insurance. Universities typically assist students with the renewal process.

Post-Study Work Opportunities & Residency Pathway

The UAE has introduced several pathways to support graduates seeking to remain after completing their studies:

- Job Seeker Visa: Allows recent graduates to stay in the UAE for up to 6 months while searching for employment.
- Green Visa: Offers longer-term residence options for skilled professionals and may be accessible to international graduates entering priority industries.
- Golden Visa (10-Year Residency): Top academic achievers and graduates from UAE universities with high GPAs may qualify for this prestigious long-term residency, subject to specific eligibility criteria.

While a standard student visa does not automatically include work rights, internships and part-time work may be permitted with university approval and a separate work permit issued by the Ministry of Human Resources and Emiratization.
